GREAT RAYMOND HAD ANCESTOR'S HAND

CARBERRY AND NEILSEN, NOVELTY SKETCH ARTISTS
Now Appearing at Bijou Theater in Pretty Rural Comedy Entitled
"A Country Home"

A very ludicrous thing happened to the Great Raymond during one of his performances in Shanghai. One of the great magician's illusions is a dummy hand which is laid on a piece of glass, which in turn is supported by the backs of two chairs. Mr. Raymond as a rule gets a lot of fun out of this hand, both for the audience and for himself as it answers questions by tapping on the glass. On the night in question there was a large Chinese audience in attendance and during the hand trick an old woman who had been sitting in the front row screamed and rushed upon the stage, gestulating wildly. She ran for the hand and secured it, hugging it tightly to her breast and started up the aisle toward the entrance doors.

Raymond finally secured his dearly beloved hand by paying the woman ten dollars as compensation. She said the hand belonged to a relative. It is now hoped that the Great Raymond, who is to appear at the Liberty Theatre for a short engagement commencing Wednesday night, July 17, will be more careful of the Chinese lady's ancestor's hand.

BOSTONIAN JRS.
TO SEE VOLCANO

There are members of the Juvenile Bostonian Company who are in the game for art's sake rather than for the money consideration their efforts may entitle them to. Take for instance, Thom Hellen, who sings straight parts in the various operas presented by the company. Miss Helen is the daughter of parents who never knew what hard times meant from personal experience. At home in Seattle she has her own auto, and enjoys her vacation touring the mountain roads within fifty miles of Seattle. Miss Lora Mason, whose modeling has been so much admired by the Honolulu audiences, is the daughter of a wealthy farmer in Eastern Washington and she loves to sing, enjoys the hours before the footlights and the excitement which follows the ring of the curtain as well as during the preparation of a production.

Other girls in the company are well situated as far as this world's goods is concerned and some of them are planning their vacation which will begin after the arrival of the juveniles at Seattle. Since the company left Honolulu the management has had in preparation "Olivette," a delightful and sparkling comedy opera with plenty of joyous music. There has been a rehearsal every day and it was only after rehearsal that the members were allowed to go tramping on the trails around Waikiki. From Hilo comes word that the trip to the volcano next Sunday depends upon how well the girls know their parts, for Mrs. Lang insists upon their being letter perfect as to words and business of "Olivette." With the trip as an incentive, each girl is going, her utmost and more than one has said that it was the tempting volcano that brought them so far from the mainland. They will leave Hilo in automobiles early Sunday morning for the Volcano House and return Monday afternoon in time to catch the Mauna Kea for Honolulu, where they will appear at the opera house. Tuesday night in "The Dream Girl." Seats will be on sale at the Promotion rooms next Monday.

AD CLUB MEETING
POSTPONED FOR WEEK

On account of tomorrow being a holiday, the regular weekly meeting of the Honolulu Ad Club has been postponed until Thursday of next week. The program for the next meeting will be announced before Thursday, July 11. During July and August the mainland advertising men hold no meetings, but it was the sentiment of the local advertising men at the last meeting that there was no necessity for a summer postponement in Hawaii, and the directors are considering a suggestion to continue the meetings. A meeting of the directors was called for yesterday evening to take up this matter but due to the general business rush preceding the Fourth, the meeting was also postponed until Tuesday of next week at 5 o'clock.
